

A FURNITURE VAN IS NOT THE PLACE FOR A HOT STOVE

Drivers Didn't Know, but They Had Fire to Keep Warm Without Applejack.

The interior of a van packed with furniture is no place for a hot stove. This was admitted in Recorder McGovern's Court in Hoboken today by John Milko and Joseph Malinski, furniture movers, when they were arraigned on a charge of intoxication.

Milko and Malinski, seated on the seat of a big furniture van containing the household goods of John Gregory, until yesterday residing at No. 21 Hackensack avenue, Hoboken last night on their way to Jersey City. They had stopped at various places along the route to fortify themselves with apple jack against the cold, and when they reached Willow avenue and Ninth street they were found asleep.

A policeman at that corner saw smoke bursting from the rear of the van and fire licking the edges of the roof. He ran to the headquarters of Engine Company No. 6, at Clinton and Eighth streets, reported the fire and guided the engine to the truck, which was moving slowly along the street.

The firemen unhooked the hoses, dragged Milko and Malinski to the street, and put out the fire, not, however, until the van and the contents thereof had been destroyed. Nothing was left of the van but the running gear.

Milko and Malinski were so substantially fortified against the cold that they were locked up on a charge of intoxication. The horses were cared for in a livery barn.

When arraigned today, the two furniture movers were overwhelmed with remorse. They admitted putting a hot kitchen stove in the van and piling other Gregory effects on top of it, but declared they did not imagine the stove would set anything on fire. Apparently the blaze had smoldered three or four hours before it worked through the van.

An Milko and Malinski were pretty well convinced they were about to lose their jobs and undergo other unpleasant experiences, Recorder McGovern discharged them. They proceeded reluctantly to get into communication with their boss, a Jersey City truckman, who is said to have a rather violent disposition.

VICTIM OF VENDETTA SLAIN IN HARLEM LOT.

Body With Many Stab Wounds
Found With Long Knife Lying Near.

The body of a young man who had been slain to death with a long thin butcher's knife was found today in a vacant lot back of One Hundred and Eighth street between First and Pleasant avenues. The body lay face down and there were stab wounds in the back, shoulders and throat. Any one at a dozen wounds inflicted would have caused death. The only clue to the murder was the worn and thin-bladed knife. There was nothing in the clothing to hint at identity.

The body was discovered by several men who were crossing the lot on their way to a nearby factory. Detectives Bloom, Cassetti and Manserri investigated. They found an eye in the neighborhood who had heard a quarrel. It was his opinion that the blue-eyed, heavily built young man was the victim of a vendetta. The body was removed to the East One Hundred and Fourth street station.

Honest Advice to Consumers

Remember there exists a vast amount of deception as to the possibility of curing Consumption. We state some facts, and are sincere in what we assert.

If you are afflicted with Consumption, we should be precisely what we ask others to do. Take Edmund's Alternative promptly and faithfully. The reason we should do this and warrant we have for adding all Consumptive to take it, is that we have the reports of many cures, one of which follows:

1019 Kensington Ave., Phila., Pa.
"Gentlemen: For two years I was afflicted with hemorrhages of the lungs, the number varied nearly every day. Our family physician advised another climate, as to remain would probably be fatal; however, I remained and in February of 1902, I was taken with a severe attack of pneumonia. When I recovered sufficiently to walk about the house I was left with a frightful hacking cough, which no medicine I had taken could alleviate. I was again advised to go to another part of the country. It was at this time, March, 1902, that I learned of Edmund's Alternative. In a short time my cough was gone and I was pronounced 'well' or 'cured.' Since that time I have had two slight attacks of pneumonia and I have resorted to no other medicine to effect a cure."

"I am at present in excellent health and feel that as long as I can obtain Edmund's Alternative, I have no fear of Consumption. I cannot speak too highly for the good it has done."
(Signed) HOWARD L. KLOPFER.
Edmund's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, and Lung Trouble, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all druggists and Miller Drug Stores, and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Edmund Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

You are impressed no doubt in most of the clothes underpricings of which you read that the reductions are due more to a mad haste on the part of the producer to unload what he fears may next season be unseasonable merchandise than to any desire to expand his business through the giving of excess values.

Now every garment in this offering is a this season's advanced styled garment—many exclusive fabrics being included—tailored to a degree of excellence that the world has justly recognized as standard.

Upwards of a third of the offering, nearly three thousand of the suits, are only within a week, or at the most a fortnight, from our tailors—cut on advanced style models from our exclusive special tailoring fabrics—styles that are not only advanced, but garments that you have our unequivocal assurance will be good style for a good year or more to come.

Every garment is tailored as you will find no other ready-for-service clothes—the models are advanced, correct and distinctive, and the fabrics represent the best efforts of the world's best weavers.

It is a satisfaction to know that when you buy FURNITURE here that you receive only our regular goods taken from stock, and not goods manufactured for sale purposes, which is the usual thing in general furniture sales. O'NEILL FURNITURE is made of the finest procurable woods, thoroughly seasoned to prevent warping, finished with only the most durable non-cracking varnish, and where upholstery is used wool is wool, not part cotton, and where we specify a French plate mirror it does not mean an American roll plate, which is an inferior quality, although it looks just the same. We mention these facts because in selling these goods we take a great pride in maintaining this store's integrity.

To-morrow and Saturday we will specialize everything in BEDROOM FURNITURE. Below we quote a partial list which will give some idea of the great savings in price.
